The Worst Law School in America
The Western Michigan University Thomas M. Cooley Law School announced Monday that it is closing its Grand Rapids, Michigan, campus and consolidating operations in the state at its Lansing, Michigan, location.
The Grand Rapids campus will close Aug. 31, 2021, pending approval by accrediting agencies, according to

Why pick on Cooley? There are a lot of terrible law schools out there, certainly. Cooley Law, however, has secured a deserved reputation as the worst of the worst, churning out scores of the most uncompetitive graduates into an extremely competitive profession that has nowhere near the ability to absorb them all. Cost of education is extremely high relative to expected salaries. Many graduates struggle to even pass the bar. Cooley has even been

Cooley Law School will close another campus; ‘not really enough students to make it work,’ dean says
Cooley Law School was once the largest law school in the nation, with nearly 4,000 students in 2010. The number had dropped to 1,156 students in fall 2019.

The bar passage standard, known as Standard 316, requires at least 75% of an ABA-accredited law school’s graduates who take a bar exam to pass one within two years of graduation. Cooley was listed as noncompliant in May, based on 2017 graduates. Noncompliant schools must submit a report demonstrating compliance by Feb. 1, 2021, to the ABA’s Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar.

In the words of Janet Joplin “freedom is just another word for nothing left to lose” .. if we don’t live according to ‘natural law’, based on respect and empathy, creativity and sovereignty we don’t deserve the blessings of nature either… responsibility and freedom are two sides of the same coin (in my opinion), if you don’t take one side, the other side is lost.. still, I have good hopes -or better call it faith – because the Creator and Michael’s army always wins and those that follow them shall win.

Robert…good grief. The list failed to mention the number one concern and that is COVID and our kids. Just saying. Also…please do not attack any readers for not commenting any more. This is not a suggestion. This is a new rule for this site.

Trump told us and the whole world and we still have not responded to how he recognizes us. The people are sovereign, the people rule, and the reason I was elected was to give the power back to the people.

You and Robert like to talk in riddles…enough already….

And, mine too is Sovereignty.

I appears you can’t handle the truth. The truth is always written in short verses and in simple words for understanding.
Just like – America was founded on lies we are taught as children. We the People lost the Revolutionary War losing all that was fought for, and there is no counter proof. All that the patriots fought for was lost. Washington never created a Doctrine of Conquest, he allow King George to write his own set of terms instead.
Not one POTUS or people’s representatives has ever taken an oath to “the Constitution for the United states of America” and this too cannot be disproven

But the King as Arch-treasures and Prince Elector of the United States of America only recognized you as a citizen subject and debt slave as was before the war.

So, tell me mister know it all, what is it you and your side-kick Robert want from us here at Dianne's daily blog of information, gathered for the reader's choice and options to join in or simply follow. It appears to me, that you guys ought to throw your swords into the fight and since you have all the answers, solve the movie we are all working with day by day and night by night.

Yeah, most everything I was taught in school has already or is currently being changed to fit the new world order. Did Columbus discover America…I wasn't there were you..? I have my own answers and I'm sure you have yours. History, is what it is. I can honestly tell you, it was totally boring as a kid.

Seems you want something in the manner of acceptance that you know more than the common folk and don't like it when nobody joins your celebration.

Anyway, I'll choose my own path as I always have, and see you at the end of the street whenever I get there.

What I want from you and other readers, is for you to know the truths about the government you think you have, and then find a way to act on what is known by you for the benefit of all – especially our children
Are you ready? If so email me rschaum1@verizon.net and I will cover what the founders did from 1781 to 1789, and who they were and their allegiances. I don't think Dianne will allow me to post the whole time line document on this blog. It not about the god spoken to here, it's about their god/gods
Also, for some reason I don't receive reply notices.

Good luck to Sidney dealing with so many Judges having dirty hands that can’t afford to do the honorable thing or just won’t.
I will wait on 3 Marines that suggested and supported Trump to run as POTUS and especially Dunford. Without enforcement for what is right for America and it’s people, it will be SOS different day.
I speak with military personnel weekly at my local VFW Post and co-members at AFCEA.org and all believe the people will not and do not support them by coming forward. Maybe they will only if they feel some real pain.

It ain’t the old school military that is the problem, it’s the new asshats in charge…I belong to the American Legion, and have gone to gatherings at my local VA center…good folks…but still, not the same as the new boys in town…and don’t get me started on the good ol’ 90 day wonders, or draft dodgers…personally, I wish they would re-enact the draft and get some of these kiddies off the street instead of you and I paying their pathway of hope and glory.

We have White Hats and Black Hats and infiltrated seats at the Pentagon and all the alphabet agencies. It isn't a clear cut military. It is a war between the military, we are in a struggle to save our Union. We have chaos in high places. God will prevail for a people called by his name who honor and trust in God. Where this goes is where God leads it. No man can win a war against God. Whatever the outcome it is God's will that shall be done. Amen.

The so called asshats are far from being in control. They follow the money changers. It is the worldwide octopus known as the Military and Security Industrial Complex. The deep state players foundations were set in 1781 and told to Washington by Cornwallis. Since those days America was infiltrated by foreign entities for the Rule of Law, Land Ownership, Banking, Currency form and Commerce practices.
Read the introduction to the King's 1783 Treaty of Peace, it begins to tell you what you were not to know for who was in control. no riddles, just simple words of written facts.. Read the backstory of the Founders for who they gave their allegiances to and the oaths they took to their private secret clubs they belonged to. Ask how many can one serve. Who is the power over the Military Security Industrial complex, look at their symbols on a dollar bills and their architecture on Capitol Hill and a top the National Cathedral. Look who is depicted as god like on the ceiling of the Rotunda.
George Washington as one of the head Masons was a traitor to the 3 Percenters and all that they fought for because he did not create a Doctrine of Conquest claiming all that they fought for. He allowed King George the actual loser of the physical war to determine what was good for him and his. This is what the Vets you speak to don't have knowledge of for considering what the real corrective actions are.
The latest count there are 18.0 million veterans, suppose they knew the truth. How many would remain as canon fodder order takers.

NO! But she knows she should stay out of the courts unless she is given standing.. Otherwise it’s all theater of false hopes. It’s their court with their referees. Justice to them means Just Us.

Perhaps it's because we, and I think I speak for many…do not trust not only the government of not only this nation, but across the world's vast horizon. And, to top that off, I can again speak for many who do not trust the military either.

Perhaps, they are doing their bidding by Special Forces and in the name of military, none of my business, which I was taught in boot camp, but, and it's a very big but…if that is the case, then why all the corruption in our faces, along with no sign of action, which in this new society of technology is pretty hard to hide.

I am old school, and as I have told many, on the downhill slide, freefalling and tell everyone to just get outta the phuckin' way..!!

I hate secrets with a passion, I hate flabbermouthed politicians, and I hate liars…so, where do we go sir Robert..!!?

I applaud you for mentioning our military and their activities, but at this point, I just think the populous in general really could careless and doesn't give a rat's behind about celebrating things like Star Trek..!!

No offense, just my opinion.

Now, it's beer thirty and time to rock a bit…have a good'in..!!
